The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

YOU'VE GOT TO HAVE a lot of faith, hope and charity to believe there can be anything like a wholesale application of the principles of the Atlantic charter to a Europe which is rapidly slipping back into its naughtily political habits of pre-war days.

That presumably is one of the delicate problems which will come before Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin at their forthcoming meeting. If the problem is solved it certainly will require a lot of what we euphemistically call "realism."

Prime Minister Churchill Thursday nailed his position to the mast in a fighting speech which was one of the most forceful of his brilliant career. He told the world bluntly that he and Stalin had agreed on a joint policy for the Balkans to prevent future wars. He declared, however, that "this agreement raised no question of divisions of territory or spheres of interest after the war," and that President Roosevelt had been kept "constantly informed."

Britain, he said, has one principle about the liberated or repentant satellite countries. That is "government of the people, by the people, for the people."

The world at large accepts Mr. Churchill's declaration as sincere. It notes also that not only he but Marshal Stalin has subscribed to the tenets of the Atlantic charter which signed or unsigned, still stands.

Without impugning the personal motives of any of Europe's leading statesmen, the cold fact is that circumstances are forcing the breaking up of the continent into spheres of influence. Call it power politics if you want to. And when zones of influence are established, then the small countries within those zones lose some or all of their independence.

In the present turn-over some states also are losing their right to self-determination. And the re-division of Europe has only started.

The end of the war will see zones of influence the length and breadth of the continent.

Salem Sailors Describe Navy's Might In Jap Island Shelling

The story of a Christmas in battle is vividly told in a letter received recently by Mrs. Shirley Spencer of Bank st. from her husband, Fireman First Class George Spencer. Fireman Spencer and two buddies, both Salem men, Homer O. Paxson, fireman first class, whose wife lives at 663 Wilson st., and Michael P. Rabel, whose wife, Mabel, lives on R. D. 4, Salem, are all serving aboard the Destroyer U.S.S. Fanning in the Pacific.

The three men entered the Navy in February, 1944, and have been together overseas nine months—always on the same ship.

Fireman Spencer's account follows:

"Plenty happened this Christmas. Let me give you a super-duper eyewitness account of why we didn't have time to sing any Christmas carols.

"You know the Army boys have been walloping Tokyo with their B-29's. They've made it pretty hot for the Nips. Well, the Japs have an island a few hundred miles from Tokyo that needed some attention by our Navy, and our idea of a Christmas present was a bombardment of that island that the Japs would remember for several Yuletides.

"Well, we really worked 'em over. We cruised up there first the day before Christmas (while you were laying the presents out around the Christmas tree). We had some cruisers and destroyers. The Army worked with us on the show and their B-24 bombers patted the Japs plenty before we moved in; some P-38's also went in and put the Nips in their fox holes (the idea was to keep their planes on the ground so they couldn't attack us). They did a swell job.

"Our targets were coastal guns, buildings, fuel dumps, ships, planes—anything with the Jap red circle on it. We followed the navigator's 'track' (that's our course) around the island and pumped our big shells into their gun positions; we lobbed over plenty of five-inch stuff too.

"The noise was terrific. Powder fumes drifted back after every salvo.

Pfc. George Summers Wounded In Action

Word was received by his family today that Pfc. George W. Summers, 23, a former Deming Co. employee, was wounded in action in France, Jan. 8.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Summers, R. D. 3, and is a veteran of overseas service since Oct. 20, 1944.

Entering the army June 20, 1942, Pfc. Summers trained at Camp Grant, Ill. Port Bragg, N. C., and Washington, D. C. He was sent overseas from New York City.

Serving with the medical detachment of the 399th Infantry division a part of the Sixth army, Pfc. Summers was wounded slightly, the War department message related.

Col. Roosevelt's Dog Made Trip From England

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Col. Elliott Roosevelt said today his bull mastiff had made a flight with him from England to the United States before it was flown from Washington to his wife, actress Faye Emerson, in Los Angeles under an A priority label.

Roosevelt said he never asked the Army Air Transport command to fly the dog across the United States, but merely suggested that it be taken along "if an empty bomber happens to be going that way on an operational flight."

The president's son, who commands a reconnaissance wing of the U. S. Eighth Air Force, said he had "no connection with the whole affair," in which three service men with lower priorities lost their seats to the crated, 135-pound pet at Memphis, Tenn.

Father of 6 Killed

FINDLAY, Jan. 20.—Donald G. Resman, 33, was killed last night while working in the National Refining Co. switchyard on the Nickel Plate railroad. Six small children survive.

JAP DEAD ON LUZON IS 900 IN THREE DAYS

Sixth Army Wins Important Battle With Enemy In Hills

(By Associated Press)
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Jan. 20.—Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger is winning the important battle of the left flank.

His Sixth army is smashing Japanese tanks, silencing artillery concealed in caves and going after enemy soldiers in 10-foot-deep holes with flame throwers. It is the first real fight since the Yanks landed at Lingayen gulf Jan. 9.

Twenty Japanese tanks have been knocked out and 600 Nipponese killed in a three-day period.

That flank juts into the hilly, eastern side of Pangasinan province. The broader it gets the more effectively it isolates Japanese forces on the north around Baguio, Philippines summer capital, from other enemy forces on the south defending Manila.

Since the fighting flared on the left flank, there has been scarcely any official word of a further push in strength southward by Yank columns last reported approaching Tarlac, 65 airline miles from Manila.

The battle of the left flank is a scattered series of small scale, bitter clashes. The Americans are linking up a solid line along the Manila-Baguio road in a 30-mile stretch from near Rosario on the north to the Agno river on the south near Villasis.

In that area today's communique and Associated Press field dispatches reported:

The Japanese threw night counter-attacks at Yanks in the outskirts of Rosario. The Nipponese were repulsed but artillery duels are continuing.

Yank columns moving north on the Manila-Baguio highway which leads in behind Rosario captured a section.

Further southeast down the highway past Pozorubio the Japanese tried an ambush at Binanalan. Yank 105 mm. guns destroyed 10 camouflaged Japanese tanks and bazookas knocked out the other two.

On down the highway past Urdaneta, Japanese resistance disappeared as a motorized unit of Yanks sped through Villasis to the Agno river and there seized a 2,800-foot bridge.

The Japanese appear to be fighting hardest for Rosario.

(George Thomas Foster, NBC correspondent, said an artillery duel has been in progress there for five days).

SIX AIRMEN KILLED IN PLANE CRASHES

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 20.—Two Marine corps fliers were killed Thursday when two Navy land planes collided in the air near Hatteras, N. C., the Fifth Naval district public relations office reported tonight.

The dead are listed as Second Lieut. Arthur L. Grosser, Pittsborough, Pa., pilot, and Corp. Calvin W. Miles, gunner, son of John Miles, 982 Harmon ave., Hamilton, O.

One of the planes made a crash landing in a swamp and its occupants were uninjured. The other fell into the sea, and the pilot and a crewman were killed.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 20.—Four crew members were killed and six injured when a four-engine army bomber crashed during a take off at Hunter field today.

The injured included Flight Officer Ray E. City of Hollandsburg, (DeWitt Co.) O., co-pilot, and Corp. Frank F. Fleischer of Cleveland, engineer-gunner.

2 Soldiers Dead, Another Missing

Pvt. Switzer

Pfc. Spack

Three of Salem's latest war casualties are Pvt. Charles Switzer and Pfc. George T. Spack, listed as killed in action, and Lieut. William S. Miller, who is missing in action.

Pvt. Switzer, 22, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Switzer of the Millville road. He was killed in Germany Nov. 30. He graduated from Goshen High school, attended Miami university and formerly worked for the E. W. Bliss Co.

Pfc. Spack, 24, the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Spack, 1150 Newgarden st., was killed in France Nov. 24. He was formerly employed by the National Sanitary Co. A brother, Pfc. Eugene, is missing in action in Germany.

Lieut. Miller, 31, husband of Mrs. Esther Tetlow Miller of Washingtonville and son of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, 563 Ohio ave., is reported missing since Dec. 30 in Germany. He was employed by the Deming Co. before entering service.

ALLIES, HUNGARY SIGN ARMISTICE

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Soviet Russia, the United States and Britain have signed an armistice with Hungary's provisional government, the Moscow radio announced today.

Moscow said the terms would be published later. The Hungarian regime is headed by Col. Gen. Bela Miklos, and is seated at Debrecen in Russian-occupied territory.

The armistice was arranged after three days' negotiations.

Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov headed Russia's delegation. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Maj.-Gen. John R. Deane, and George F. Kennan, a U. S. representative on the European advisory commission, represented the United States.

The British charge d'affaires, John Balour, headed Britain's group.

New Invasion Of Luzon Seen By Japs

(By Associated Press)

The Japanese Domei news agency said today an American invasion of Luzon island south of Manila may be developing.

In a dispatch intercepted by the Federal Communications commission, the Japanese said, "enemy air forces are conducting reconnaissance operations in the southern Luzon area, indicating the possibility that the enemy is intending to avoid our powerful forces north of Manila and, instead, attempt to land troops at some other fresh point."

7,800 Canadians Go AWOL At Point Of Embarkation

(By Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—Half of 15,800 Canadian Home Defense soldiers drafted for overseas service went absent without leave before embarkation, and 6,300 still are at large, Defense Minister A. G. McNaughton disclosed today.

Some 1,500 of these 7,800 returned voluntarily or were apprehended, he said, and sailed for Britain along with the others who did not take unauthorized leaves.

He said this total of 8,300 conscripted men sent overseas was accompanied by "the full normal quota of reinforcements"—presumably men who had volunteered for service abroad.

The 6,300 still absent will be classed as deserters if they do not return within 21 days. Gen. McNaughton said the troop movement began Christmas week. None has been classed as deserters yet, he added.

The 15,800 troops in Home Defense units were drafted for over-

Three Million Reds Engaged In New Drive

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Russians, driving to cut off East Prussia, have penetrated within 62 miles of the Gulf of Danzig in the Junkers province and have smashed to within 204 miles of Berlin in the south-west, the German communique disclosed today.

The Germans told of fierce battling against a rolling Red army tide of 3,000,000 men everywhere along a blazing 800-mile front as Moscow broadcasts indicated a fresh series of victory announcements might be forthcoming tonight from the Kremlin.

Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian armor reached the area of Kepno (Kempner) in a 20-mile advance from Wielun, northwest of captured Krakow.

German home guard battalions, the Volkssturm, were battling to stop the smash along the upper Silesian border, Berlin said. Kepno is only nine miles from the frontier and 38 miles northeast of Breslau, chief industrial center of German Silesia. Only 204 miles lie between Kepno and Berlin.

Northwest of Warsaw Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army reached or crossed the southwestern border of East Prussia and stabbed to Gloggenburg, 62 miles from the Gulf of Danzig.

The Russians also reached Neidenburg, eight miles inside East Prussia, and Chazelle on the East Prussian-Polish border, the Germans announced.

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army was pouring toward the Polish corridor between the Vistula and Warta and the Germans said fighting was raging.

The Russians had reached the area of Plock, Vistula river fortress 125 miles from Pomerania.

3 Million Soviets Fighting
The Russians were 238 miles from Berlin in this sector.

Moscow announced last night that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops captured Praszka, on the industrial-rich Silesian frontier, climaxing a day of unprecedented developments that saw the fall of Lodz, Poland's second city, and Krakow, former capital.

At least 3,000,000 Red army troops are committed to drives toward German soil. The Russians scored their greatest gains of the war with the capture of 2,750 towns and villages, ripping through collapsing German lines from the Baltic to Budapest.

Marshal Stalin disclosed that the Third White Russian army opened a new offensive in East Prussia with a 27-mile breakthrough in five days, while another Russian army plunged ahead 50 miles in the Carpathian region in southern Poland.

Early today DNB, the official German news agency, declared the present Russian offensive "will decide the fate of Germany—it has outreached anything hitherto known."

There was no indication the Germans would be able to salvage their disintegrating forces for a stand short of the homeland.

Slashing to the Silesian frontier, Soviet troops severed the railway linking the Baltic port of Danzig with the German industrial area, and seized other towns from nine to four miles from the border on a 25-mile front between Wielun and Ostrow, nine miles southwest of fallen Czestochowa.

The Russians also mounted their threat to overrun Silesia from a 53-mile front southeast of Ostrow to Krzeszowice, a town 14 miles northwest of fallen Krakow.

Truman Takes Oath As Vice President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A grim visaged, slight little man in a dark overcoat, holding his hat in hand, became vice president of the United States today.

Harry S. Truman of Missouri, who left the senate two days ago after 10 years service there, was sworn in as number two man of the government by retiring Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

Promptly at noon, the bespectacled gray haired Truman stepped to the pulpit installed on the south portico of the White House to take the oath of allegiance to the United States government.

Vice President Wallace intoned the oath in a firm voice and at the conclusion Truman said firmly, his jaw setting:

"I do."

Then he stepped back to permit President Roosevelt to take the oath as chief executive for the fourth time.

Output Still Low
YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 20.—Steel production in the Youngstown district will advance four points to 63 per cent of capacity next week, but will still be seven points below the rate for most of last year.

Indications are that three Bessemer and only 63 open hearths will make steel because of the fuel shortage. Twenty-three blast furnaces will make iron.

New Invasion Of Luzon Seen By Japs

(By Associated Press)

The Japanese Domei news agency said today an American invasion of Luzon island south of Manila may be developing.

In a dispatch intercepted by the Federal Communications commission Domei said, "enemy air forces are conducting reconnaissance operations in the southern Luzon area, indicating the possibility that the enemy is intending to avoid our powerful forces north of Manila and, instead, attempt to land troops at some other fresh point."

As duty under a policy of partial conscription adopted by Canada in November despite vigorous protests, principally from the French-speaking population of Quebec. Previously, Canada had sent only volunteers abroad.

Army authorities anticipated late arrivals and absentees, the announcement said, and moved overseas troops to ports to "ensure embarkation of the full complement of reinforcements."

"The arrival of these troops has brought the department's normal reinforcement program fully up to the strength planned for overseas to date, while the special program arranged for use of National Resources Mobilization act personnel (drafts) overseas is also progressing according to schedule," it was announced.

The first disclosure of the high percentage of unauthorized leaves came last night in the form of a conscription directive first issued as a confidential guide for editors, and then released for publication.

Three Million Reds Engaged In New Drive

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Russians, driving to cut off East Prussia, have penetrated within 62 miles of the Gulf of Danzig in the Junkers province and have smashed to within 204 miles of Berlin in the southwest, the German communique disclosed today.

The Germans told of fierce battling against a rolling Red army tide of 3,000,000 men everywhere along a blazing 800-mile front as Moscow broadcasts indicated a fresh series of victory announcements might be forthcoming tonight from the Kremlin.

Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian armor reached the area of Kepno (Kempner) in a 20-mile advance from Wielun, northwest of captured Krakow.

German home guard battalions, the Volkssturm, were battling to stop the smash along the upper Silesian border, Berlin said. Kepno is only nine miles from the frontier and 38 miles northeast of Breslau, chief industrial center of German Silesia. Only 204 miles lie between Kepno and Berlin.

Northwest of Warsaw Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army reached or crossed the southwestern border of East Prussia and stabbed to Gloggenburg, 62 miles from the Gulf of Danzig.

The Russians also reached Neidenburg, eight miles inside East Prussia, and Chorzelle on the East Prussian-Polish border, the Germans announced.

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army was pouring toward the Polish corridor between the Vistula and Warta and the Germans said fighting was raging.

The Russians had reached the area of Plock, Vistula river fortress 125 miles from Pomerania.

A 2 Million Soviet fighting force. The Russians were 238 miles from Berlin in this sector.

Moscow announced last night that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops captured Pasaaka, on the industrial-rich Silesian frontier, climaxing a day of unprecedented developments that saw the fall of Lodz, Poland's second city, and Krakow, former capital.

At least 3,000,000 Red army troops are committed to drives toward German soil. The Russians scored their greatest gains of the war with the capture of 2,750 towns and villages, ripping through collapsing German lines from the Baltic to Budapest.

Marshal Stalin disclosed that the Third White Russian army opened a new offensive in East Prussia with a 27-mile breakthrough in five days, while another Russian army plunged ahead 50 miles in the Carpathian region in southern Poland.

Early today DNB, the official German news agency, declared the present Russian offensive "will decide the fate of Germany—it has outreached anything hitherto known."

There was no indication the Germans would be able to salvage their disintegrating forces for a stand short of the homeland.

Slashing to the Silesian frontier, Soviet troops severed the railway linking the Baltic port of Danzig with the German industrial area, and seized other towns from nine to four miles from the border on a 25-mile front between Wielun and Ostrowy, nine miles southwest of fallen Czesochowa.

The Russians also mounted their threat to overrun Silesia from a 53-mile front southeast of Ostrowy to Krasnawice, a town 14 miles northwest of fallen Krakow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A grim visaged, slight little man in a dark overcoat, holding his hat in hand, became vice president of the United States today.

Harry S. Truman of Missouri, who left the senate two days ago after 10 years service there, was sworn in as number two man of the government by retiring Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

Promptly at noon, the bespectacled gray haired Truman stepped to the pulpit installed on the south portico of the White House to take the oath of allegiance to the United States government.

Vice President Wallace intoned the oath in a firm voice and at the conclusion Truman said firmly, "I do."

Then he stepped back to permit President Roosevelt to take the oath as chief executive for the fourth time.

Our Constitution of 1787 was not a perfect instrument, it is not perfect yet. But it provided a firm base on which all manner of men, of all races and colors and creeds, could build our solid structure of democracy.

Good Luck, Mr. President

Among those who regard his inauguration for a fourth term with profound gravity is Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, and his mood has been reflected in the relatively simple ceremony marking the occasion.

No one may know what these next four years hold. We want them to bring a definitive resolution of the issues over which the great nations have gone to war. We want them to bring the structure of a practical and equitable peace that will be the beginning of a long era of reconstruction.

All of us hope and pray that men everywhere may come closer to the terms of understanding than they have ever attained in the past. It is the universal wish of the articulate and the inarticulate that men's energies and the world's resources may be wasted no more in mutual destruction.

In the United States, we want these next four years to contain the elements of a social, political, economic and spiritual environment in which a greater number will find the means of happy, useful lives than ever found them before. We want to discover confirmation of the people's confidence in this blessed land where all things that are desirable are, by that token, possible.

As President, Mr. Roosevelt will have the privilege of coordinating our best efforts to realize our worst-kept dreams. It is one of the finest opportunities any man ever had to serve his fellowmen. It is also one of the sternest challenges any man ever accepted. All of us wish Mr. Roosevelt good luck. By so doing, we are wishing ourselves good luck. The success or failure of our highest hopes will be determined by our work, our faith, our forbearance and our resolution to work together. The dream of self-government can be shattered in the next four years, or it can be translated into a bright reality that will inspire the world.

One Point To Be Clarified

When United States foreign policy is criticized for being vague, the criticism does not imply that it can be clarified overnight with one master statement. It must be clarified a detail at a time.

One point to be clarified emerged in Prime Minister Churchill's statement to commons about agreement with Russia on the Balkans. Mr. Churchill said President Roosevelt had been kept "constantly informed" about Anglo-Russian decisions concerning Europe's traditional trouble spot.

He did not say that Mr. Roosevelt had been constantly consulted. As far as official policy is concerned, this government is said to be committed to an attitude of non-interference. Yet, it is plain that if the United States is to accept responsibility for settlements in the Balkans, it is entitled to some authority over the making of the settlements. It can no more expect to wash its hands of responsibility now than it could after 1918, unless it plans to seek refuge in isolation.

This is the great doubt arising in the American mind about the direction international affairs have been taking recently—this doubt of the wisdom of expecting the United States to share the possible consequences of unilateral decisions in which it had no part. It has not been quieted by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that his government and Russia have reached a working understanding. Americans want to believe that their own government has a share in the plans as well as the possible consequences of failure to avert a third great war.

And That's News

When a man in the uniform of his country bites his fingernails while a dog gets first choice on a travel priority, that's news, and the news may blow the top off one of the silliest of all wartime situations here at home.

Why should men in the service of their country—men who have been taken away from home and ordered hither and yon by their government—be expected to compete with civilians, dogs, or anything else for a chance to use available transportation? What is the official logic behind ordering a doctor to cut down the wattage on the sign in front of his office to save coal while permitting hundreds of thousands of civilians to ride on trains whenever and wherever their fancy dictates? What kind of master-minding is it to haggle over an obscure taxpayer's right to get a couple of gallons of gas to go to a funeral while hundreds of travel miles are being used up every minute of every day by people with nothing more important to do than go to the bingo game?

The dog that brought the whole thing to a climax didn't have any choice in the matter, which absolves him from blame. That is more than can be said for a lot of non-military travelers. The fact the dog was connected with the Roosevelt family adds spice to the story, of course, but that was just a mistake and a misunderstanding. It always is.

Underdog Appeal

German propaganda is pulling all the stops on an underdog appeal to observers of the Russian offensive. It is awkward and inept under the circumstances, but Germans were noted for finesse in such matters.

Plainly, what they hope to do as a last resort is to portray themselves as the battered defenders of Europe against the savage Russian hordes. They depict German soldiers as fighting desperately and hopelessly against overwhelming odds. The German army is being cut to ribbons. It is wading in blood. Everything about the enemy is a manifestation of brutal power. Germany has no hope of stopping the attack, but will fight on bravely to the last man. And so on and so forth.

There is one thing so obviously wrong with this appeal as far as Americans are concerned that only the Germans could fail to see it. Germans are not underdogs in their battle with the Russians. They are bullies whose hands are stained with the blood of countless Russian victims—bullies whose savage onslaught carried them clear to Stalingrad before they were turned back, forced back over the way they had come and finally brought to grim justice on their own borders.

The whimpers of the German propagandists in 1945 cannot be heard above the screams and moans of the millions of Russians who bore the brunt of German savagery.

Outside The Pale

Classification of left-wing factions resisting the British in Greece as Trotskyite-Communists answers one question and asks another. It establishes an identity for the dissidents that relieves the Russian government of responsibility. But it suggests at the same time that all similar factions advocating resistance to authority under circumstances indicating a connection with Communist doctrine must be alien to the Russian government and the Russian Communists, too, because with dissolution of the Comintern the party abandoned revolution outside Russia as a requisite. The question: Does this place Brother Browder and his home-grown followers outside the pale?

The Stars Say

For Sunday, January 21.

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages the pursuit of the higher and more inspirational or spiritual side of life, with its inner urges and profounder ideals seeking form in a very sound and constructive way. Serious thought given to idealistic aspirations may be well recognized and developed along secure and lasting promise for the future happiness and progress. Dramatic performance may win cherished rewards.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which their highest plans and desires may develop certain sound and workable encouragement, with promise of future security and recognition, though such matter may concern ideals, dramatic talents or advanced theories. It is a time for concentrated efforts on constructive creative lines, with real help.

A child born on this day will have advanced ideas and ultra-modern ideals or visions, yet will be serious, profound, studious and willing to work hard for cherished aims and aspirations.

For Monday, January 22

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is an intriguing one, with several indications of conflicting, complex and perplexing situations to be wisely considered and analyzed before arriving at important conclusions or profitable decisions. The ability for this serious consideration is, however, under excellent stimuli, and bring results of sound, constructive promise.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which serious thought and wise decision based upon constructive analysis of complex situations, with dubious perplexing and complicated factors, may finally be secured, settled and on a firm and solid foundation. Romance and happiness are offered.

A child born on this day will have romantic, advanced and progressive ideals and aspirations, yet will be well qualified to make their development secure, enduring and glamorous as well.

The mystery over what started an Indiana hotel fire was solved—a cigaret. The mystery over where the cigaret came from is still unsolved.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Cold Prevention

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I DO not know how it got the name "the common cold." For some vague reason the term irritates me. I realize it's common, but so is breathing. You don't say—"He passed by my house doing

Dr. Clendenening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

common breathing and common walking and common swinging of his arms as he went. The cold weather made some common tears come to his common eyes, so he wiped them away with his common handkerchief."

Why not just say "colds"? Or coryza.

Cold Remedies

Anyway, is there anything to be done about a cold? I have before me the "1944 Year Book in Medicine," which contains digests of all the important articles on medicine from all over the world and I will tell you what it says about cold remedies. Remember that is what the book says. It is not necessarily my opinion, and I do not guarantee the statements. As Rochester says to Jack Benny, "That's what the man said. The man said that."

In the first place, vaccines for prevention of colds. Three separate reports are made in different towns by different medical observers. The studies were made in industrial plants and the attempt was to reduce absenteeism. In short, the results meant dollars and cents.

Cold Vaccines

The summary states: "No clearly evident protection against the cold and related acute respiratory infections could be demonstrated. Comparing with control groups who received no vaccine, no evidence of effective protection against either frequency or severity or complications of the common cold could be demonstrated. Indiscriminate use of cold vaccines now available is not the answer to the problem of industrial absenteeism due to acute respiratory infections."

Cod Liver Oil

Vitamins: Dr. C. Ward Cramp-ton gave a cod liver oil concentrate of 150,000 units of Vitamin A and 15,000 units of Vitamin D as an initial dose and smaller doses thereafter and found in 81 per cent of his patients that the cold was "cured, abated or favorably modified." Although no claims are made for the remedy in cold prevention, many persons have in a manner avoided colds by consistently stopping them in their prodromal stage.

But a note of pessimism breaks in with the report of other workers that the use of A and D vitamins have not proved of value in preventing or curing colds. Since colds are self-limiting, the results must be very striking before one can ascribe any influence to an agent directed towards cure.

Sulfa Drugs

Sulfa drugs: Sulfadiazine was the preparation used by Drs. Russell Cecil, Norman Plummer and Wilson G. Smillie. They point out that it is the complications of the common cold that make the trouble. The uncomplicated cold, now generally accepted as due to a filterable virus, runs a mild course, and clears up completely in four to seven days.

It is the secondary bacterial implantation which make the trouble. Against these the sulfa drugs might operate. In 66 persons, 48 were treated by sulfadiazine, 24 were untreated and observed as controls. There was a uniform decrease in the secondary bacterial infections in the nose with the use of sulfadiazine. The doctors are opposed, however, to the routine use of sulfa drugs in the common cold, and use sulfa on only those cases in which it appears complications may be imminent.

Patulin: Patulin is a form of penicillin. In a study by W. A. Hopkins of 95 patients with the common cold and 85 others used as controls when solutions of patulin were sprayed into the nose 58 per cent of the treated patients recovered completely within 48 hours, while only 9 per cent of the controls recovered that quickly. No ill effects were observed.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

LIONS CLUB TO SEE WAR MOVIE TUESDAY

"Combat America," a war movie in technicolor, will be shown at the dinner meeting of the Lions club 6 p. m. Tuesday at the Lape hotel. Produced and narrated by Maj. Clark Gable, the former movie star, the film is a photograph of actual warfare, the grim melodrama of the stratosphere between Yank and men and the Nazi foe. Described as an intensely dramatic affair, the film was secured for the Lions club by the Columbus and County War Bond committee. The meeting will be held Tuesday and not Wednesday as was originally contemplated. John J. Lewis is program chairman.

Blasted out of the sky in the battle for the Philippines, he waits in shark-infested waters—alone. Surely they'll send out rescue planes—surely they'll find him! Boy, what he wouldn't give for another crack at those Japs! For the chance to finish the fight.

He knows the war isn't over yet—not by a long shot. But do the folks back home know that, he wonders? Are they still working hard for victory—still buying bonds, and hang-

Among those who regard his inauguration for a fourth term with profound gravity is Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, and his mood has been reflected in the relatively simple ceremony marking the occasion.

No one may know what these next four years hold. We want them to bring a definitive resolution of the issues over which the great nations have gone to war. We want them to bring the structure of a practical and equitable peace that will be the beginning of a long era of reconstruction.

All of us hope and pray that men everywhere may come closer to the terms of understanding than they have ever attained in the past. It is the universal wish of the articulate and the inarticulate that men's energies and the world's resources may be wasted no more in mutual destruction.

In the United States, we want these next four years to contain the elements of a social, political, economic and spiritual environment in which a greater number will find the means of happy, useful lives than ever found them before. We want to discover confirmation of the people's confidence in this blessed land where all things that are desirable are, by that token, possible.

As President, Mr. Roosevelt will have the privilege of coordinating our best efforts to realize our worst dreams. It is one of the finest opportunities any man ever had to serve his fellowmen. It is also one of the sternest challenges any man ever accepted. All of us wish Mr. Roosevelt good luck. By so doing, we are wishing ourselves good luck. The success or failure of our highest hopes will be determined by our work, our faith, our forbearance and our resolution to work together. The dream of self-government can be shattered in the next four years, or it can be translated into a bright reality that will inspire the world.

One Point To Be Clarified

When United States foreign policy is criticized for being vague, the criticism does not imply that it can be clarified overnight with one master statement. It must be clarified a detail at a time.

One point to be clarified emerged in Prime Minister Churchill's statement to congress about agreement with Russia on the Balkans. Mr. Churchill said President Roosevelt had been kept "constantly informed" about Anglo-Russian decisions concerning Europe's traditional trouble spot.

He did not say that Mr. Roosevelt had been constantly consulted. As far as official policy is concerned, this government is said to be committed to an attitude of non-interference. Yet, it is plain that if the United States is to accept responsibility for settlements in the Balkans, it is entitled to some authority over the making of the settlements. It can no more expect to wash its hands of responsibility now than it could after 1918, unless it plans to seek refuge in isolation.

This is the great doubt arising in the American mind about the direction international affairs have been taking recently—this doubt of the wisdom of expecting the United States to share the possible consequences of unilateral decisions in which it had no part. It has not been quieted by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that his government and Russia have reached a working understanding. Americans want to believe that their own government has a share in the plans as well as the possible consequences of failure to avert a third great war.

And That's News

When a man in the uniform of his country bites his fingernails while a dog gets first choice on a travel priority, that's news, and the news may blow the top off one of the alliest of all wartime situations here at home.

Why should men in the service of their country—men who have been taken away from home and ordered hither and yon by their government—be expected to compete with civilians, dogs, or anything else for a chance to use available transportation? What is the official logic behind ordering a doctor to cut down the wattage on the sign in front of his office to save coal while permitting hundreds of thousands of civilians to ride on trains whenever and wherever their fancy dictates? What kind of masterminding is it to haggle over an obscure taxpayer's right to get a couple of gallons of gas to go to a funeral while hundreds of travel miles are being used up every minute of every day by people with nothing more important to do than go to the bingo game?

The dog that brought the whole thing to a climax didn't have any choice in the matter, which absolves him from blame. That is more than can be said for a lot of non-military travelers. The fact the dog was connected with the Roosevelt family adds spice to the story, of course, but that was just a mistake and a misunderstanding. It always is.

Underdog Appeal

German propaganda is pulling all the stops on an underdog appeal to observers of the Russian offensive. It is awkward and inept under the circumstances, but Germans were noted for finesse in such matters.

Plainly, what they hope to do as a last resort is to portray themselves as the battered defenders of Europe against the savage Russian hordes. They depict German soldiers as fighting desperately and hopelessly against overwhelming odds. The German army is being cut to ribbons. It is wading in blood. Everything about the enemy is a manifestation of brutal power. Germany has no hope of stopping the attack, but will fight on bravely to the last man. And so on and so forth.

There is one thing so obviously wrong with this appeal as far as Americans are concerned that only the Germans could fail to see it. Germans are not underdogs in their battle with the Russians. They are bullies whose hands are stained with the blood of countless Russian victims—bullies whose savage onslaught carried them clear to Stalingrad before they were turned back, forced back over the way they had come and finally brought to grim justice on their own borders.

The whimpers of the German propagandists in 1945 cannot be heard above the screams and moans of the millions of Russians who bore the brunt of German savagery.

Outside The Pale

Classification of left-wing factions resisting the British in Greece as Trotskyite-Communists answers one question and asks another. It establishes an identity for the dissidents that relieves the Russian government of responsibility. But it suggests at the same time that all similar factions advocating resistance to authority under circumstances indicating a connection with Communist doctrine must be alien to the Russian government and the Russian Communists, too, because with dissolution of the Comintern the party abandoned revolution outside Russia as a requisite. The question: Does this place Brother Browder and his home-grown followers outside the pale?

The Stars Say

For Sunday, January 21.

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages the pursuit of the higher and more inspirational or spiritual side of life, with its inner urges and profounder ideals seeking form in a very sound and constructive way. Serious thought given to idealistic aspirations may be well recognized and developed along secure and lasting promise for the future happiness and progress. Dramatic performance may win cherished rewards.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which their highest plans and desires may develop certain sound and workable encouragement, with promise of future security and recognition, though such matter may concern ideals, dramatic talents or advanced theories. It is a time for concentrated efforts on constructive creative lines, with real help.

A child born on this day will have advanced ideas and ultra-modern ideals or visions, yet will be serious, profound, studious and willing to work hard for cherished aims and aspirations.

For Monday, January 22

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is an intriguing one, with several indications of conflicting, complex and perplexing situations to be wisely considered and analyzed before arriving at important conclusions or profitable decisions. The ability for this serious consideration is, however, under excellent stimuli, and bring results of sound, constructive promise.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which serious thought and wise decision based upon constructive analysis of complex situations, with dubious perplexing and complicated factors, may finally be secured, settled and on a firm and solid foundation. Romance and happiness are offered.

A child born on this day will have romantic, advanced and progressive ideals and aspirations, yet will be well qualified to make their development secure, enduring and glamorous as well.

Cold Prevention

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I DO not know how it got the name "the common cold." For some vague reason the term irritates me. I realize it's common, but so is breathing. You don't say "He passed by my house doing

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

common breathing and common walking and common swinging of his arms as he went. The cold weather made some common tears come to his common eyes, so he wiped them away with his common handkerchief.

Why not just say "colds"? Or coryza.

Cold Remedies

Anyway, is there anything to be done about a cold? I have before me the "1944 Year Book in Medicine" which contains digests of all the important articles on medicine from all over the world and I will tell you what it says about cold remedies. Remember that is what the book says. It is not necessarily my opinion, and I do not guarantee the statements. As Rochester says to Jack Benny, "That's what the man said. The man said that."

In the first place, vaccines for prevention of colds. Three separate reports are made in different towns by different medical observers. The studies were made in industrial plants and the attempt was to reduce absenteeism. In short, the results meant dollars and cents.

Cold Vaccines

The summary states: "No clearly evident protection against the cold and related acute respiratory infections could be demonstrated. Comparing with control groups who received no vaccine, no evidence of effective protection against either frequency or severity or complications of the common cold could be demonstrated. Indiscriminate use of cold vaccines now available is not the answer to the problem of industrial absenteeism due to acute respiratory infections."

Cod Liver Oil

Vitamins: Dr. C. Ward Cramp-ton gave a cod liver oil concentrate of 150,000 units of Vitamin A and 15,000 units of Vitamin D as an initial dose and smaller doses thereafter and found in 81 per cent of his patients that the cold was "cured, abated or favorably modified." Although no claims are made for the remedy in cold prevention, many persons have in a manner avoided colds by consistently stopping them in their prodromal stage.

But a note of pessimism breaks in with the report of other workers that the use of A and D vitamins have not proved of value in preventing or curing colds. Since colds are self-limiting, the results must be very striking before one can ascribe any influence to an agent directed towards cure.

Sulfa Drugs

Sulfa drugs: Sulfadiazine was the preparation used by Drs. Russell Cecil, Norman Plummer and Wilson G. Smilie. They point out that it is the complications of the common cold that make the trouble. The uncomplicated cold, now generally accepted as due to a filterable virus, runs a mild course, and clears up completely in four to seven days.

It is the secondary bacterial implantation which make the trouble. Against these the sulfa drugs might operate. In 66 persons, 48 were treated by sulfadiazine. 24 were untreated and observed as controls. There was a uniform decrease in the secondary bacterial infections in the nose with the use of sulfadiazine. The doctors are opposed, however, to the routine use of sulfa drugs in the common cold, and use sulfa on only those cases in which it appears complications may be imminent.

Patulin: Patulin is a form of penicillin. In a study by W. A. Hopkins of 95 patients with the common cold and 85 others used as controls when solutions of patulin were sprayed into the nose 58 per cent of the treated patients recovered completely within 48 hours, while only 9 per cent of the controls recovered that quickly. No ill effects were observed.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendingen had seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

LIONS CLUB TO SEE WAR MOVIE TUESDAY

"Combat America," a war movie in technicolor, will be shown at the dinner meeting of the Lions club 6 p. m. Tuesday at the Lape hotel. Produced and narrated by Ma Clark Gable, the former movie star, the film is photograph of actual warfare, the grim melodrama of the stratosphere between Yank and men and the Nazi foe.

Described as an intensely dramatic affair, the film was secured for the Lions club by the Columbus and County War Bond committee. The meeting will be held Tuesday and not Wednesday as was originally contemplated. John J. Lewis is program chairman.

AMERICA WON'T LET YOU DOWN

Blasted out of the sky in the battle for the Philippines, he waits in shark-infested waters—alone. Surely they'll send out rescue planes—surely they'll find him! Boy, what he wouldn't give for another crack at those Japs! For the chance to finish the fight.

He knows the war isn't over yet—not by a long shot. But do the folks back home know that, he wonders? Are they still working hard for victory—still buying bonds, and hanging onto the bonds they buy? Hanging on for dear life, as he is now?

Ask yourself these questions before you tell him not to worry—that of course America won't let him down. Ask them again when you start to cash in a War Bond you don't absolutely need to redeem—when more and more equipment is needed to finish the fight. Ships, tanks, planes—lots of planes. SYNOPSIS

How would you like to have been christened Agamemnon Telemachus Plumb and — though now a learned doctor and professor, age 34 — to be called by many: "AGGIE"? Even the Greeks might have no classic word for your answer. And to be under the personal social supervision of Aunt Sarah, jolly, sophisticated, and gossipy? Well, Aggie and Auntie are now in the ancient and expensive family limousine with Windle, the chauffeur, and Chilly, the maid, motoring north towards the mountains from their summer heat of New York City. En route to Indian Stones, Aunt Sarah promotes Beth Calder as a matrimonial prospect for Aggie, mentioning a family scandal which prompts her nephew to exclaim, "And you want me to marry into this shambles!" Arriving at Rainbow Lodge, Sarah's country house, about 10 p. m., they are greeted by old John, the family's veteran butler. Sarah, who has been complaining mildly of a sore throat, enters the lodge by a side door. Aggie fingers his initials, carved by him in his boyhood, on the veranda railing. This starts a train of thoughts....

CHAPTER FOUR

Thirty-four years old. The letters had been there for twenty-two. A long time. Old John was disappointed in him, somehow. Aggie had never had occasion to be disappointed in himself, but he could see the butler's point of view. Mature. A scientist. Renowned in his field. A popular lecturer. Slangy, contemporary, knowing—but a shy man, really, with a phobia about crowds and meetings and parties. A misfit in a well-to-do summer colony like Indian Stones. A bachelor. A chap with a wisp of beard and no golf game. One who would prefer a book to a tea dance, and an assorted stack of petrified bones to a pack of playing cards. A man who would be petrified on his own account in the presence of such a person as Beth Calder.

He'd teased Sarah about it—and he loved Sarah. He knew she was excessively loyal to him. Sarah, indeed, his extraneous expeditions and she even tried to wade through his scientific treatises. But it was going to be hard for him, this summer. He could banter with one or two people at a time, so long as they knew and understood him; he could lecture; but with strangers, his tongue froze and his assurance vanished. An introvert. A misogynist. A self-made dry-as-dust. He'd have to avoid this Beth person—and, if Sarah was serious, that act would hurt her feelings. He shrugged and turned back toward the car. A shimmer at the side of the front door caught his eye. He walked toward it. Stuck into the frame of the door, impaling a small, white card, was a knife of the sort that is taken on hunting trips. Aggie himself had one much like it. He pulled it out and the card came away on its tip. He carried the card to the light. It said: "Henry H. Bogarty." Aggie looked from the knife, which was sharp and shiny, to the card. The handle of the knife was engraved and monogrammed. He put it on the rail of the porch and walked toward the automobile. Windle had carried the luggage indoors and was about to drive the car around to the garage. Aggie realized he had spent several minutes in mauling. He did not stop the chauffeur. Instead, he went into the house.

Old John was coming from Sarah's room, which was on the ground floor, across the hall from the living room. Aggie beckoned with his hand and when the old man came close, handed the card to him. "Know who that is?"

The butler read the name and nodded. "Why, certainly, although I haven't heard much about him for—well—thirty years, I'd say. Not till this evening, that is."

"It was pinned to the door frame with a knife. A mean-looking knife."

"Knife, sir?"

"Yeah. I left the knife outside. Didn't want to alarm Sarah. It was bigish. Sort of — threatening."

Old John smiled. "I don't think it's that. Mr. Hank—that's Mr. Bogarty—was quite a gentleman in a rugged way. He wired your aunt he was coming here. The telegram is in her mail—and she's going through it now. Mr. Hank probably had no way of leaving his card conspicuously enough for us to notice. He was like that, Mr. Aggie. I mean to say—the rough-and-ready sort—"

"I see."

"Does it look familiar to you? The house?"

Aggie glanced around the room. It looked startlingly familiar. He recalled vividly the way the stones fitted around the fireplace — their size and their shape — and the Navajo rugs — and the opulently ponderous "rustic" furniture. Sarah had always been what she called an "outsider." Only little things were new; stiff, white draperies, a chandelier, some bookcases. Aggie smiled slowly. "Yes," he said. "I do remember, John. It's a funny feeling."

He stepped across the hall and knocked on his aunt's door.

"Come in," she shouted from her bathroom. "John?"

"Aggie."

"Be right out. I'm fixing myself an ice bag." There was a sound of chopping. "These darned cubes are harder to break up than an old-fashioned hunk."

"Need help?"

"No." She appeared, presently, in a deshabille. That is, she was wearing some sort of net over her gray hair—a purple net—and the most voluminous red silk kimono Aggie had ever seen. The ice bag had been lashed to her neck with a lurid batik. She walked across her room and dropped down on her enormous four-poster bed. She observed, after a sigh of relaxation, the activity of her nephew. "You make a practice of going through other people's mail?"

He glanced up from the bedside table. "Invariably. You know what you remind me of, Sarah? Sunset over Grand Canyon."

She whooped with laughter. That act seemed to hurt her throat and she spent a moment grimacing. Then she held out her hand for the telegram.

"That's from Hank Bogarty," she said. "ARRIVING SHORTLY FOR NEW GRUBSTAKE. LOVE, HANK."

"I can read," Aggie answered. "Who's he?"

"Oh. An old friend. I can't imagine why he's coming. We haven't seen him around here for ages. Some of us grumbled that he once—lent him money to go prospecting with—ever so long ago. It'll be nice to see him."

Aggie was satisfied.

For a moment, the sight of the knife in the doorknob had startled him. There was something sinister about it. Like finding a medicine man's ouanga pinned on your tent. Now, this momentary fear vanished. Foolish, he thought, to bring the associations of Congo voodooism to the United States. He was always doing things like that. The price you paid for being an anthropologist. Sarah was settling herself for a talk. He helped her arrange the bedcovers. John knocked lightly on the door and came in. "Mr. Calder's outside," he said. "He wants to talk to you."

Aggie looked at his aunt with feigned dismay and said flatly to the old man, "His daughter Beth is with him, I suppose? Has he got a wedding license filled out in triplicate? A ring? Tell him I never marry except on Thursdays."

Old John was perplexed. "Miss Calder isn't here. He's alone. He seems disturbed."

Aggie glanced at his aunt—and his glance halted. Something had happened to her. She looked afraid—or worried. He said, "You'd better interview this cluck after you get some sleep. Isn't he the cad who ran off with the doctor's wife—and then left her in California—a fate worse than death?"

Sarah did not smile. "Tell him to come in, John. Aggie, beat it."

"I will not. I'm your guardian—for a change. I stay. What does this out want? Why are you suddenly full of horns?"

Rogers Soldier Given Surprise Furlough Home

LISBON, Jan. 20.—Pfc. Dale Cope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barthold Cope, pinched himself to determine if he was dreaming when he arrived at his home in nearby Rogers yesterday.

The reason: He was given a 10-day furlough, a round-trip railroad ticket with money for meals en route, a carton of cigarets and a shaving kit by Monroe (N. C.) business men because he was G. I. No. 750,001 to enter a U. S. O. club near Camp Sutton, N. C., where he is stationed.

CORPSES AT INDIAN STONES

— By — PHILIP WYLIE

1943 by Author—Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
 How would you like to have been christened Agamemnon Telemachus Plumb and — though now a learned doctor and professor, age 34—to be called by many: "AGGIE"? Even the Greeks might have no classic word for your answer, but to be under the personal social supervision of Aunt Sarah, jolly, sophisticated, and gossipy? Well, Aggie and Auntie are now in the ancient and expensive family limousine with Windle, the chauffeur, and Chilly, the maid, motoring north towards the mountains from the summer heat of New York City. En route to Indian Stones, Aunt Sarah promotes Beth Calder as a matrimonial prospect for Aggie, mentioning a family scandal which prompts her nephew to exclaim: "And you want me to marry into this shambles!" Arriving at Rainbow Lodge, Sarah's country house, about 10 p. m., they are greeted by old John, the family's veteran butler. Sarah, who has been complaining mildly of a sore throat, enters the lodge by a side door. Aggie fingers his initials, carved by him in his boyhood, on the veranda railing. This starts a train of thoughts....

CHAPTER FOUR
 Thirty-four years old. The letters had been there for twenty-two. A long time. Old John was disappointed in him, somehow. Aggie had never had occasion to be disappointed in himself, but he was aware of the butler's point of view. Mature. A scientist. Renowned in his field. A popular lecturer. Slangy, contemporary, knowing—but a shy man, really, with a phobia about crowds and meetings and parties. A misfit in a well-to-do summer colony like Indian Stones. A bachelor. A chap with a wisp of beard and no golf game. One who would prefer a book to a tea dance, and an assorted stack of petrified bones to a pack of playing cards. A man who would be petrified on his own account in the presence of such a person as Beth Calder.

He'd teased Sarah about it—and he loved Sarah. He knew she was excessively loyal to him. Sarah financed his extravagant expeditions and she even tried to wade through his scientific treatises. But it was going to be hard for him, this summer. He could banter with one or two people at a time, so long as they knew and understood him; he could lecture; but with strangers, his tongue froze and his assurance vanished. An introvert. A misogynist. A self-made dry-dust-dust. He'd have to avoid this Beth person—and, if Sarah was serious, that act would hurt her feelings.

He shrugged and turned back toward the car. A shimmer at the side of the front door caught his eye. He walked toward it. Stuck into the frame of the door, impaling a small, white card, was a knife of the sort that is taken on hunting trips. Aggie himself had one much like it. He pulled it out and the card came away on its tip. He carried the card to the light. It said: "Henry H. Bogarty." Aggie looked from the knife, which was sharp and shiny, to the card. The handle of the knife was engraved and monogrammed. He put it on the wall of the porch and walked toward the automobile. Windle had carried the luggage indoors and was about to drive the car around to the garage. Aggie realized he had spent several minutes in mauling. He did not stop the chauffeur. Instead, he went into the house.

Old John was coming from Sarah's room, which was on the ground floor, across the hall from the living room. Aggie beckoned with his head and when the old man came close, handed the card to him. "Know who that is?" The butler read the name and nodded. "Why, certainly, although I haven't heard much about him for well—thirty years, I'd say. Not till this evening, that is." "It was pinned to the door frame with a knife. A mean-looking knife." "Knife, sir?" "Yeah. I left the knife outside. Didn't want to alarm Sarah. It was bogus. Sort of — threatening." Old John smiled. "I don't think

Iowa Hawkeyes Cling To Top Rung In Big Ten Cage Race

OHIO STATE IN RACE HOPEFUL

Two Other Ohio Teams Break Even In Boston Garden Double Header

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 20. — Iowa's Hawkeyes, clinging to the top rung of the Western Conference basketball ladder, watched the spotlight swing toward Ohio State today.

The Hawkeyes won their third consecutive Conference game last night, edging out Michigan, 29 to 27. They'll rest tonight while six other circuit teams resume firing. Among them is Michigan, heading toward Columbus for a game with Ohio State's title defending Buckeyes. The Wolverines gave Iowa its toughest game of the season last night. They have an old score to settle tonight; they dropped their season opener to Ohio State by a 44-41 count in an overtime period.

Iowa's Freshman Forward Murray Weir led the Hawkeyes scoring with 11 points and dumped in three field goals in the final minutes to pull his mates ahead for the two-point victory. The Wolverines, raced by Don Dumd 12 points, led 15-11 at the half, and held a 27-22 lead when Weir began sharpshooting. Illinois handed Northwestern a 51-42 defeat at Champaign. In addition to the Michigan-Ohio game tonight, Northwestern plays at Purdue and Minnesota entertains Indiana.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 20. — Ohio teams broke in an intercollegiate basketball double-header last night in the Boston Gardens.

The Bowling Green Falcons set a team scoring record in bowling over Long Island university, 72-51, but Baldwin Wallace lost to Rensselaer, 46-33, after holding an early lead. In the only other Ohio college basketball game last night Ohio University trounced University of Cincinnati, 61 to 36.

Leading 26-25 at the half, Don Otten and Wyndol Gray of Bowling Green scored 21 points early in the third period to clinch the game. Otten made 27 points and Gray 23. Baldwin-Wallace ran up a 10 to 1 score at the start but was not able to stop Rensselaer Guard Tony Orlando who scored 19 points. The Easterners led 17-16 at the half. Johnny Popp made 16 points for the losers.

Goshen High Takes Second Loss 44-29

Goshen High school cagers suffered their second defeat of the week from Leetonia High, 44-29, at Leetonia last night.

Joe Jeswald and Jim Stewart of Leetonia copped the scoring honors with 15 and 12 points, respectively. Mercer led Damascus with eight. Damascus outscored Leetonia in but one period—the second—9-8.

Goshen reserves were defeated 19-18 in a thrilling preliminary.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The members of the American College Publicity association have taken up cudgels against organized gambling on college sports. The first move, reports Hank Johnston, sports vice-president, will be to remove from mailing lists "those persons who are not definitely known to use the information for constructive purposes." We can think of a lot of non-gamblers who come under that head—especially if a "constructive purpose" means digging up a good tackle when he's needed.

The "March of Dimes" sports program for the infantile paralysis foundation will wind up Jan. 31 with a baseball game at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES
Hot tip from the Midwest says Fritz Crisler is first choice of the Western Conference athletic directors who'll choose a successor to the late John L. Griffith today. The Wilson is No. 2.

Joe Hutton, Hamilton's basketball coach, maintains that Dodge Howie Schultz is the best basketball player he ever coached—and Joe has had some good ones. Outfielder Lucas Dupps still keeps busy at Hialeah park directing traffic among the horses being exercised. Traffic cop is one occupation the WLB forgot to list for men thrown out of work by the racing ban.

JUST A SUGGESTION
Reese Hart of the Raleigh, N. C. Times proposes: "Why not take all the pari-mutuel machines and use them in war plants to bet on how many planes, guns, tanks or shells would be produced each day?" We'd call it a swell idea if they'd pay off only on a daily doubled production.

GIL DODDS PLANS FAREWELL RUNNING

Famed Trackster To End Brilliant Career To Take Up Ministry

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Indoor mile record-holder Gil Dodds, retiring from competitive track in his prime, today will run his farewell race on the same tiny balcony where, as an unknown, he gained his first triumph a half-dozen years ago.

His theological studies completed, Dodds, famed as the Flying Parson, plans to set out for Los Angeles to join a gospel group. Nevertheless, he predicts, will he thrill packed thousands at the major Eastern indoor meets.

Unassuming and modest as ever, Dodds has selected the annual Boston Y.M.C.A. meet, which is a schoolboy affair, as the stage for his valedictory performance—a two-mile handicap event that has attracted a very mediocre field.

"I'm certain that Gil would cut at least two seconds off his 4:06.4 indoor world mile mark if he would compete this season," Jack Ryder, his veteran coach, said sadly.

Promoters of next month's major meets in New York and Boston had hoped Dodds would be available to resume his rivalry with Gunder Haegg when that Swedish sensation returns here.

Rail Repairers Can't Whip Colony of Beavers

FARMINGTON, Me. — A daily struggle between a beaver colony and a Maine Central railroad crew has been going on for months, with no end in sight.

One morning last summer, Alfred Cowan and his crew discovered that the shoulder of the track near West Farmington was being washed by impounded waters caused by a beaver dam.

Optimistically, Cowan and his men destroyed the dam and thought that was the end of it. But every morning the beavers have presented the railroad men with a completely rebuilt dam.

A WORD IN DEFENSE OF 4-F ATHLETES

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK—Every now and then the customer doesn't agree with the views expressed by the columnist. So he writes a letter about it. Director of War Mobilization James F. Byrnes' statement that he has seen men prove on the football field that they are "physically able to compete with the most powerful men that could be placed on the field" and that he was "unable to understand how these men could be said to be physically unfit" has elicited the following from James H. Coogan, publicity director of Penn State:

"Dear Harry: Perhaps it's been done somewhere, and I haven't seen it, but methinks the athletes in 4-F deserve a pretty strong defense. Many of them, perhaps most, wanted to get into the service, but were rejected and no end of persuading could get them past the examining medico. "Briefly, my point is this: unless Selective Service lowers its physical standards, a simple announcement that all 4-F athletes will be reviewed is not likely to make any change in the situation. And in a way, it's a shame to subject the boys to cross-examination when getting in or staying out of the service has been none of their doing."

Cites Example
"We have a boy here, Howard Caskey (225 pounds), a freshman tackle who has been rejected three times. Each time he was rejected for a different reason. He played regularly last fall, and was a pretty tough tackle, but he tired easily, had to be relieved often during a game, was mighty uncomfortable without his glasses, found the game pretty rugged. Yet, he kept going, largely because he liked the game and liked physical combat, and also because he got expert attention and had a trainer nearby who kept a close eye on him."

"Which brings me to still another point. Our trainer, Jack Hulme, points out that some of these so-called 4-Fs go into a game covered from head to foot with tape and other paraphernalia. With all these safeguards, many of them can't last through a game. "They give out somewhere enroute, retire to the dressing room, where a specialist like Hulme puts them under heat lamps, pats them nursingly and otherwise persuades them they still have another game in their bones."

Not Worth It
"I don't think Uncle Sam could afford to spend that kind of time and money on his boys, and he wouldn't know in advance, anyway, whether he were going to need that fellow for 40 minutes or 40 hours. I suspect when the whistle blows in Germany a guy must be ready to play the game for 40 days, if needs be. "The way the athletic crowd has responded to the government's decree has been wonderful. Nobody squealed. Everybody agreed the important thing was to win the war. There's no quarrel with that dictum. "But there is no reason to believe that the 4-Fs now in sports would make any difference in the final outcome. They might even be in the way. And most importantly, they can't get in even now unless Selective Service lowers its standards."

That's fine, but what about working in war plants? Those guys could still play—on their day off. Some of them do.

Conservation Fund Of $10,000 To Aid Pheasant Breeding

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 19.—The State Conservation commission yesterday allotted $10,000 in addition to its annual $25,000 appropriation for pheasant propagation and considered proposals to remove foxes from the game list and classify them as vermin.

Approval of the additional sum for pheasants was made at the commission's January meeting, spokesman said, to offset depletion of flocks throughout the state as a result of severe winter weather. "The money will be used to purchase eggs for hatching, and for distribution of young birds in hard-hit areas, particularly northern Ohio, it was explained.

Conservation Commissioner Don Waters said heavy, crusted snows had killed thousands of birds throughout Ohio this winter and expressed belief that virtually all would be wiped out in the northern third of the state.

Approval for abandonment of a conservation laboratory at Leesville in Carroll county was postponed until the February meeting. Waters previously had said the laboratory would be abandoned.

The commission also gave the final approval to an order permitting use of goldfish minnows as fish bait this year. Use of such minnows was prohibited last year.

Conservation spokesmen said Ohio's fox population was on the increase and farmers were reporting considerable loss of poultry and small livestock.

The foxes also have made severe inroads on pheasants and other game. Classification of foxes as vermin, it was explained, would permit counties to post bounties to encourage their extermination.

Salem On Scoring ipre, Hands Alliance Plat Team 60-18 Defeat

Salem's Athletics went pait wild last night at the Memorial ining and rolled up such a commanding lead in the ball game that the Alliance Taylorcraft had tim to score only a few, consequently the locals won their first victory, 61-34.

A dominant factor in the victory was the top-notch performance turned in by Salem's school's Coach Bob Miller, who's flipping them through the back with ease. The Quaker mentor at former Ohio State star caged 1 points in his part-time stay in the fray.

The win was the first for the locals in three tries, but last night's performance against the out-classed Crafters points to better days ahead for the Athletics.

Pile Up Early Lead
Unquestionably superior from the outset, Salem rolled up a 22-4 advantage by the end of the first frame and went further to the front, 30-6, by halftime.

Nineteen points in the third period to six for Alliance made the total 49-12 as the final began.

Reliable "Buck" Ritchie, Athletic high point man so far this season, came through with his regular impressive total—this time 12 points. Manager Al Carlos caged six and host of others got into the game to tally.

Alliance's Al Zeller did the best of the visiting squad with eight points, but the fast-breaking Salem team had the visitors running toward the wrong end of the floor most of the time.

Salem has lost two games, one to Transu's 34-30 and another to a Babcock outfit 50-45.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The members of the American College Publicity association have taken up cudgels against organized gambling on college sports.

The first move, reports Hank Johnston, sports vice-president, will be to remove from mailing lists "those persons who are not definitely known to use the information for constructive purposes."

"We can think of a lot of non-gamblers who come under that head—especially if a 'constructive purpose' means digging up a good tackle when he's needed."

The "March of Dimes" sports program for the infantile paralysis foundation will wind up Jan. 31 with a baseball game at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES
Hot tip from the Midwest says Fritz Crisler is first choice of the Western Conference athletic directors who'll choose a successor to the late John L. Griffith today.

No. 2 Joe Hutton, Hamline's basketball coach, maintains that Dodge Howie Schultz is the best basketball player he ever coached—and Joe has had some good ones.

Outfielder Lucas Dupps still keeps busy at Hialeah park directing traffic among the horses being exercised. Traffic cop is one occupation the WLB forgot to list for men chosen out of work by the racing ban.

JUST A SUGGESTION
Reese Hart of the Raleigh, N. C. Times proposes: "Why not take all the pari-mutuel machines and use them in war plants to bet on how many planes, guns, tanks or shells would be produced each day?"

We'd call it a swell idea if they'd pay off only on a daily doubled production.

One morning last summer, Alfred Cowan and his crew discovered that the shoulder of the track near West Farmington was being washed by impounded waters caused by a beaver dam.

Optimistically, Cowan and his men destroyed the dam and thought that was the end of it. But every morning the beavers have presented the railroad men with a completely rebuilt dam.

Hockey Streak Ended
(By Associated Press)
St. Louis' brief three-game unbeaten streak in the American Hockey league came to a rude end on the flyers' ice last night. They lost, 8 to 6, as the Providence Reds came from behind with four last period goals that wiped out a 6-4 St. Louis lead.

There are 449 flamingos in the famed flock at the Hialeah race-track.

GIL DODDS PLANS FAREWELL RUNNING

Famed Trackster To End Brilliant Career To Take Up Ministry

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Indoor mile record-holder Gil Dodds, retiring from competitive track in his prime, today will run his farewell race on the same tiny balcony where, as an unknown, he gained his first triumph a half-dozen years ago.

His theological studies completed, Dodds, famed as the Flying Parson, plans to set out for Los Angeles to join a gospel group. Nevertheless, he predicts, will be thrill packed thousands at the major Eastern indoor meets.

Unassuming and modest as ever, Dodds has selected the annual Boston Y.M.C.A. meet, which is a schoolboy affair, as the stage for his valedictory performance—a two-mile handicap event that has attracted a very mediocre field.

"I'm certain that Gil would cut at least two seconds off his 4:06.4 indoor world mile mark if he would compete this season," Jack Ryder, his veteran coach, said sadly.

Promoters of next month's major meets in New York and Boston had hoped Dodds would be available to resume his rivalry with Gunder Haegg when that Swedish sensation returns here.

Rail Repairs Can't Whip Colony of Beavers

FARMINGTON, Me.—A daily struggle between a beaver colony and a Maine Central railroad crew has been going on for months, with no end in sight.

One morning last summer, Alfred Cowan and his crew discovered that the shoulder of the track near West Farmington was being washed by impounded waters caused by a beaver dam.

Optimistically, Cowan and his men destroyed the dam and thought that was the end of it. But every morning the beavers have presented the railroad men with a completely rebuilt dam.

A WORD IN DEFENSE OF 4-F ATHLETES

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK—Every now and then the columnist doesn't agree with the views expressed by the columnist. So he writes a letter about it.

Director of War Mobilization James F. Byrnes' statement that he has seen men prove on the football field that they are "physically able to compete with the most powerful men that could be placed on the field" and that he was "unable to understand how these men could be said to be physically unfit" has elicited the following from James H. Coogan, publicity director of Penn State:

"Dear Harry: Perhaps it's been done somewhere, and I haven't seen it, but methinks the athletes in 4-F deserve a pretty strong defense. Many of them, perhaps most, wanted to get into the service, but were rejected and no end of persuading could get them past the examining medico."

"Briefly, my point is this: unless Selective Service lowers its physical standards, a simple announcement that all 4-F athletes will be reviewed is not likely to make any change in the situation. And in a way, it's a shame to subject the boys to cross-examination when getting in or staying out of the service has been none of their doing."

Cites Example
"We have a boy here, Howard Caskey (225 pounds), a freshman tackle who has been rejected three times. Each time he was rejected for a different reason. He played regularly last fall, and was a pretty tough tackle, but he tired easily, had to be relieved often during a game, was mighty uncomfortable without his glasses, found the game pretty rugged. Yet, he kept going, largely because he liked the game and liked physical combat, and also because he got expert attention and had a trainer who kept a close eye on him."

"Which brings me to still another point. Our trainer, Jack Hulme, points out that some of these so-called 4-Fs go into a game covered from head to foot with tape and other paraphernalia. With all these safeguards, many of them can't last through a game."

"They give out somewhere enroute, retire to the dressing room, where a specialist like Hulme puts them under heat lamps, pats them nursingly and otherwise persuades them they still have another game in their bones."

Not Worth It
"I don't think Uncle Sam could afford to spend that kind of time and money on his boys, and he wouldn't know in advance, anyway, whether he were going to need that fellow for 40 minutes or 40 hours. I suspect when the whistle blows in Germany a guy must be ready to play the game for 40 days, if needs be."

"The way the athletic crowd has responded to the government's decree has been wonderful. Nobody squealed. Everybody agreed the important thing was to win the war. There's no quarrel with that dictum."

"But there is no reason to believe that the 4-Fs now in sports would make any difference in the final outcome. They might even be in the way. And most importantly, they can't get in even now unless Selective Service lowers its standards."

"That's fine, but what about working in war plants? Those guys could still play—on their day off. Some of them do."

Iowa Hawkeyes Cling To Top Rung In Big Ten Cage Race

OHIO STATE IN RACE HOPEFUL

Two Other Ohio Teams Break Even In Boston Garden Double Header

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Iowa's Hawkeyes, clinging to the top rung of the Western Conference basketball ladder, watched the spotlight swing toward Ohio State today. The Hawkeyes won their third consecutive Conference game last night, edging out Michigan, 29 to 27. They'll rest tonight while six other circuit teams resume firing. Among them is Michigan, heading toward Columbus for a game with Ohio State's title defending Buckeyes. The Wolverines gave Iowa its toughest game of the season last night. They have an old score to settle tonight—they dropped their season opener to Ohio State by a 44-41 count in an overtime period. Iowa's Freshman Forward Murray Weir led the Hawkeye scoring with 11 points and dished in three field goals in the final minutes to pull his mates ahead for the two-point victory. The Wolverines, raced by Don Dumd 12 points, led 15-11 at the half, and held a 27-22 lead when Weir began sharpshooting. Illinois handed Northwestern a 51-42 defeat at Champaign. In addition to the Michigan-Ohio game tonight, Northwestern plays at Purdue and Minnesota entertains Indiana.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 20.—Ohio teams broke in an intercollegiate basketball double-header last night in the Boston Gardens.

The Bowling Green Falcons set a team scoring record in bowling over Long Island University, 72-51, but Baldwin Wallace lost to Rensselaer, 46-33, after holding an early lead.

In the only other Ohio college basketball game last night Ohio University trounced University of Cincinnati, 61 to 36.

Leading 26-25 at the half, Don Otten and Wyndol Gray of Bowling Green scored 21 points early in the third period to clinch the game. Otten made 27 points and Gray 23.

Baldwin-Wallace ran up a 10 to 1 score at the start but was not able to stop Rensselaer Guard Tony Orlando who scored 19 points. The Easterners led 17-16 at the half.

Johnny Popp made 16 points for the losers.

Ohio University led all the way in defeating Cincinnati, Ralph Sayre, Ohio forward, got 17 markers but game high point man was John Mueller of the losers, who made 18.

Goshen High Takes Second Loss 44-29

Goshen High school cagers suffered their second defeat of the week from Leetonia High, 44-29, at Leetonia last night.

Joe Jeswald and Jim Stewart of Leetonia capped the scoring honors with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Mercer led Damascus with eight. Damascus outscored Leetonia in but one period—the second—9-8.

Goshen reserves were defeated 19-18 in a thrilling preliminary.

GIL DODDS PLANS FAREWELL RUNNING

Famed Trackster To End Brilliant Career To Take Up Ministry

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Indoor mile record-holder Gil Dodds, retiring from competitive track in his prime, today will run his farewell race on the same tiny balcony where, as an unknown, he gained his first triumph a half-dozen years ago.

Iowa Hawkeyes Cling To Top Rung In Big Ten Cage Race

OHIO STATE IN RACE HOPEFUL

Two Other Ohio Teams Break Even In Boston Garden Double Header

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Iowa's Hawkeyes, clinging to the top rung of the Western Conference basketball ladder, watched the spotlight swing toward Ohio State today.

The Hawkeyes won their third consecutive Conference game last night, edging out Michigan, 29 to 27. They'll rest tonight while other circuit teams resume firing. Among them is Michigan, heading toward Columbus for a game with Ohio State's title-defending Buckeyes. The Wolverines gave Iowa its toughest game of the season last night. They have an old score to settle tonight—they dropped their season opener to Ohio State by a 44-41 count in an overtime period.

Iowa's Freshman Forward, Murray Weir led the Hawkeyes scoring with 11 points and dumped in three field goals in the final minutes to pull his mates ahead for the two-point victory. The Wolverines, raced by Don Dund 12 points, led 15-11 at the half, and held a 27-22 lead when Weir began sharpshooting.

Illinois handed Northwestern a 51-42 defeat at Champaign.

In addition to the Michigan-Ohio game tonight, Northwestern plays at Purdue and Minnesota entertains Indiana.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 20.—Ohio teams broke in an intercollegiate basketball double-header last night in the Boston Gardens.

The Bowling Green Falcons set a team scoring record in bowling over Long Island university, 72-51, but Baldwin Wallace lost to Rensselaer, 46-33, after holding an early lead.

In the only other Ohio college basketball game last night, Ohio university trounced University of Cincinnati, 61 to 35.

Leading 26-25 at the half, Don Otten and Wyndol Gray of Bowling Green scored 21 points early in the third period to clinch the game. Otten made 27 points and Gray 23.

Baldwin-Wallace ran up a 10 to 1 score at the start but was not able to stop Rensselaer Guard Tony Orlando who scored 19 points. The Easterners led 17-16 at the half.

Johnny Popp made 16 points for the losers.

Ohio university led all the way in defeating Cincinnati, Ralph Sayre, Ohio forward, got 17 markers, but game high point man was John Mueller of the losers, who made 18.

Goshen High Takes Second Loss 44-29

Goshen High school cagers suffered their second defeat of the week from Leetonia High, 44-29, at Leetonia last night.

Joe Jewald and Jim Stewart of Leetonia capped the scoring honors with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Mercer led Damascus with eight. Damascus outscored Leetonia in but one period—the second—9-8.

Goshen reserves were defeated 19-15 in a thrilling preliminary.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The members of the American College Publicity association have taken up cudgels against organized gambling on college sports.

The first move, reports Hank Johnston, sports vice-president, will be to remove from mailing lists "those persons who are not definitely known to use the information for constructive purposes."

We can think of a lot of non-gamblers who come under that head—especially if a "constructive purpose" means digging up a good tackle when he's needed.

The "March of Dimes" sports program for the infantile paralysis foundation will wind up Jan. 31 with a baseball game at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Hot tip from the Midwest says Fritz Crisler is first choice of the Western Conference athletic directors who'll choose a successor to the late John L. Griffith today. Tug Wilson is No. 2.

Joe Hutton, Hamline's basketball coach, maintains that Dodge Howie Schultz is the best basketball player he ever coached—and Joe has had some good ones.

Outfielder Lucas Dupps still keeps busy at Hialeah park directing traffic among the horses being exercised. Traffic cop is one occupation the WLB forgot to list for men thrown out of work by the racing ban.

Rail Repairs Can't Whip Colony of Beavers

FARMINGTON, Me.—A daily struggle between a beaver colony and a Maine Central railroad crew has been going on for months, with no end in sight.

One morning last summer, Alfred Cowan and his crew discovered that the shoulder of the track near West Farmington was being washed by impounded waters caused by a beaver dam.

Optimistically, Cowan and his men destroyed the dam and thought that was the end of it. But every morning the beavers have presented the railroad men with a completely rebuilt dam.

Would Your Boys Like To Live On A Farm?
 You know it is the best place in the world to bring them up. Here is one, not too large, not too small. Good seven room house, good bank barn, accommodates nine cows, milk house, corn crib, tool shed and garage, brooder house, chicken house work shop and pig sty.

Thirty acres of rich soil with forty-five apple trees, also plum, peach and cherry trees, strawberries, raspberries and gooseberries. Three wells producing lots of good water. Improved main road, bus service to Salem schools. Really worth the price.

live alone, at peace; that our own well-being is dependent on the well-being of other nations—far away. We have learned that we must live as men, not as ostriches, nor as dogs in the manger.

We have learned to be citizens of the world, members of the human community.

We have learned the simple truth as Emerson said, that "the only way to have a friend is to be one."

We can gain no lasting peace if we approach it with suspicion and mistrust—and with fear. We can gain it only if we proceed with the understanding and confidence and courage which flow from conviction.

The Almighty God has blessed our land in many ways. He has given our people stout hearts and strong arms with which to strike mighty blows for freedom and truth. He has given to our country a faith which has become the hope of all peoples in an anguished world.

We pray now to Him for the vision to see our way clearly—to see the way that leads to a better life for ourselves and for all our fellow men—to the achievement of His will to peace on earth.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

Some of these changes are growing directly out of the stress of actual warfare, thereby complicating attempts to apply the terms of the Atlantic charter. That's happening in Poland, Yugoslavia and Greece.

Take the case of Poland. The Lublin Polish provisional government established itself in Warsaw yesterday while the capital still burned with the fires set by the retreating Germans. As this column predicted, the Lublin government— which has the blessings and support of Moscow — is this rushing organization of Polish territory as fast as the Russians liberate it.

The rival exile Polish government in London, which has refused to agree to Soviet annexation of eastern pre-war Poland, is left stranded. It helps not one whit that both the United States and Britain still recognize it, and haven't recognized the Lublin regime.

What's the answer to this? It's clear enough. By the time the Germans have been evicted from Poland, the Lublin government likely will have under its rule. In due course there will be a plebiscite to see what sort of government the people want, and who do you think will win?

Under those circumstances what is there the Big Three can do, within the realms of realism, but accept this? Like it or not, the Lublin regime will be an accomplished fact.

There are going to be numerous "Polands" before the reorganization of Europe is completed. Both London and Moscow have invited America's advice in solving Europe's problems, but we shall do well to note there's no sign that advice from Uncle Sam or anyone else can prevent the establishment of spheres of influence which, the United States believes, are breeders of dissension.

live alone, at peace; that our own well-being is dependent on the well-being of other nations—far away. We have learned that we must live as men, not as ostriches, nor as dogs in the manger.

We have learned to be citizens of the world, members of the human community.

We have learned the simple truth as Emerson said, that "the only way to have a friend is to be one."

We can gain no lasting peace if we approach it with suspicion and mistrust—and with fear. We can gain it only if we proceed with the understanding and confidence and courage which flow from conviction.

The Almighty God has blessed our land in many ways. He has given our people stout hearts and strong arms with which to strike mighty blows for freedom and truth. He has given to our country a faith which has become the hope of all peoples in an anguished world.

We pray now to Him for the vision to see our way clearly—to see the way that leads to a better life for ourselves and for all our fellow men—to the achievement of His will to peace on earth.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

Some of these changes are growing directly out of the stress of actual warfare, thereby complicating attempts to apply the terms of the Atlantic charter. That's happening in Poland, Yugoslavia and Greece.

Take the case of Poland. The Lublin Polish provisional government established itself in Warsaw yesterday while the capital still burned with the fires set by the retreating Germans. As this column predicted, the Lublin government—support of Moscow—this is rushing organization of Polish territory as fast as the Russians liberate it.

The rival exile Polish government in London, which has refused to agree to Soviet annexation of eastern pre-war Poland, is left stranded. It helps not one whit that both the United States and Britain still recognize it, and haven't recognized the Lublin regime.

What's the answer to this? It's clear enough. By the time the Germans have been evicted from Poland, the Lublin government likely will have all the country organized under its rule. In due course there will be a plebiscite to see what sort of government the people want, and who do you think will win?

Under those circumstances what is there the Big Three can do, within the realms of realism, but accept this? Like it or not, the Lublin regime will be an accomplished fact.

There are going to be numerous "Polands" before the reorganization of Europe is completed. Both London and Moscow have invited America's advice in solving Europe's problems, but we shall do well to note there's no sign that advice from Uncle Sam or anyone else can prevent the establishment of spheres of influence which, the United States believes, are breeders of dissension.

and the Distinguished Flying Cross. He reported back to the Redistribution center at Santa Ana, Calif., for a two weeks' rest period.

Pvt. Earl Solomon, stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind., is spending three days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Solomon, Perry st.
